

11th International Congress on the Jurassic System

29 August - 2 September 2022
Budapest, Hungary

Invitation

It is a great pleasure to invite all of you to Hungary, for the next Jurassic congress next year. We have been through a time of uncertainty since the last congress in Mexico in 2018, as the pandemic resulted in the cancellation of many scientific meetings or forced to hold virtual conferences online. With the availability of vaccines and progress of vaccination campaigns, we are optimistic that 2022 will mark the safe return of in-person meetings that will bring us back to the familiar atmosphere of lecture rooms, coffee breaks and real field trips that we have missed for more than a year now. With a venue in Budapest, the Jurassic congress returns to Europe after 16 years on other continents, for the advantage of less travel for our Old World colleagues yet in hope of attracting a truly international crowd of delegates.

Beyond the science, Budapest is a destination where rich architectural heritage and cultural scene await you. You can't escape from geology as you may stroll by the Danube River that runs along a fault under spectacular cliffs, discover the underground treasures of caves in Mesozoic limestone of the Buda Hills, or soak in the thermal water in one of the famous spas.

Mark it in your calendar and let's have a Jurassic family reunion, in the heart of Europe.

See you in Budapest at the Jurassic 2022!
